Implementation of Elements of the Belgian Best Practice in Lithuania

BACKGROUND

Lithuania covers an area of 65,300 km, with a population of 2.8 million, has 10 counties which are subdivided into 60 municipalities. Mental health care centers operate in 58 municipalities, but the mental health system remains geared towards hospital care. Lithuania has a high level of admissions to inpatient care, compared with ambulatory care, and high level of repeated hospitalizations. In order to improve the effectiveness of mental health services, Lithuania has prepared a mental health reform plan. The aim of the reform is to move from hospital-based services toward community-based services.

• General Purpose of the Pilot – to provide better-quality community-based services, increase patient's satisfaction and decrease rehospitalization rate by providing community-based case manager services for severely ill patients
